

Rewrite the sentences in Passive Voice.

1. Had the wind blown down all the paper?

2. Are people building a new swimming pool?

3. Was anyone using the computer?

4. Have terrorists murdered the policeman?

5. Did you adopt the puppy?

6. The CEO will open the new hospital.

7. The dog has bitten my son.

8. The guide led a group of tourists.

9. Julia rescued three cats.

10. The students handed in the reports.

Use: however, nevertheless, as a result, therefore, moreover, furthermore.

1. Amy likes acting. _____, she wants to take a drama course.
2. I love dancing. _____, my brother prefers singing.
3. Typhoon signal 8 has been hoisted. _____, we have cancelled the concert.
4. The magician is skilful. _____, he is funny.
5. A talent contest is a good idea. _____, there is not enough time to organize it.
6. The film had a clever plot. _____, it was exciting.
7. Stand-up comedy started 100 years ago. _____, it was introduced here only in the 90s.
8. Comedians must have a good sense of humour. _____, they have to think quickly.
9. I love horror films. _____, my sister hates them.
10. Tickets were very expensive. _____, they sold out in two days.
11. The lead singer has fallen ill. _____, the concert has been cancelled.
12. Students enjoy science fiction films. _____, the Film Club will show X-Men.
13. The actress is attractive. _____, she sings beautifully.
14. 3D films have become more realistic. _____, more 3D films are now being made.
15. Few people know how to stage a puppet show. _____, it's a popular art form.
16. The horror film was not scary at all. _____, the acting was terrible.
17. The pianist didn't attend rehearsals regularly. _____, he was fired.
18. Many students took part in the show. _____, the performances were excellent.
19. I wanted to see the film with her. _____, I had to cancel because I couldn't go.
20. I'd like to see an opera. _____, I'm not really sure which to choose.